QB SafetyLink™

Safety. Smarter. Better.

- » Provides OSHA and other industry specific standards in a format that enables multiple sources to verify compliance and mitigate the most common work place hazards.
- » Captures and provides data and photographic documentation of job site conditions and inspection processes.
- » Provides an efficient, easy method to directly communicate non-compliance and dangerous situations for prompt correction.
- » Provides reporting on correction cycle time, most common violations by type and/or trade contractor to promote training and continuous improvement.
- » Trending reports help to identify root-cause analysis and safety engineer specific practices to achieve an acceptable level of risk.
- » Documents on-site safety training sessions including digital signatures of all attendees.

Integrates with Claims Captain to provide industry specific training resources, expert content, and forms.

How does QB SafetyLink™ save time and money?

- » A robust safety program will prevent illness and injuries in the workplace.
- » SafetyLink provides companies with evidence to defend against fines and penalties imposed by OSHA and other regulatory bodies. The SafetyLink system establishes procedures for discovering and correcting hazardous conditions. Date/time stamps for data entry promote accountability and transparency while trending reports help guide safety training topics and frequency.
- » If an accident does occur, employers can reduce the cost of the claim by gathering critical information at the time of the injury. Claims Captain is SafetyLink's mobile application which directs subscribers on the information to collect including photos of the injury site and the injury at the time of the accident as well as obtain statements from the worker and witnesses while facts are still fresh.
- » Information collected is transmitted to the proper state form which can be completed via the internet and emailed along with all supporting documents to the claims agent.

QB SafetyLink™ is a uniform strategy approach to reporting data, on a nationwide basis, for companies with a view to the future!
